35 MINUTES, 44 QUESTIONS

Turn to Section 2 of your answer sheet to answer the questions in this section.

DIRECTIONS

Each passage below is accompanied by a number of questions. For some questions, you will consider how the passage might be revised to improve the expression of ideas. For other questions, you will consider how the passage might be edited to correct errors in sentence structure, usage, or punctuation. A passage or a question may be accompanied by one or more graphics (such as a table or graph) that you will consider as you make revising and editing decisions.

Some questions will direct you to an underlined portion of a passage. Other questions will direct you to a location in a passage or ask you to think about the passage as a whole.

After reading each passage, choose the answer to each question that most effectively improves the quality of writing in the passage or that makes the passage conform to the conventions of standard written English. Many questions include a "NO CHANGE" option. Choose that option if you think the best choice is to leave the relevant portion of the passage as it is.

Questions 1-11 are based on the following passage.

For the Love of Coffee

Ever since 1 introducing coffee to Italy several centuries ago, it has been a ubiquitous part of Italian culture. 2 However, coffee is so central to Italian culture that one cannot visit any city or town in Italy without seeing several coffeehouses (called caffetterie in

It is not uncommon in Italy for people to make two to three trips a day to their favorite caffetteria, and often people are so selective about their coffee that they will frequent only one establishment. But it is not simply the coffee that creates such enthusiasm for coffeehouses among those 4 which love them; the social aspect of the caffetteria may play nearly as great a role as the coffee itself.

Each caffetteria functions as a social hub in its neighborhood, and the way in which most patrons consume their coffee 5 contribute to this fact. Few caffetteria patrons sit at tables, since most coffeehouses in Italy charge a premium for table service, 6 although sometimes it's worth the cost to be able to sit and rest. Nor can patrons take their drinks elsewhere: to-go cups are not available at typical coffeehouses. 7 Instead, most regular patrons of a caffetteria drink their coffee standing. They do this, often shoulder-to-shoulder, at a counter or bar. Normally, those drinking their coffee at a bar will also chat with each other and the person making coffee behind the bar. This practice, which combines social interaction with coffee drinking, is the most popular way to enjoy a cup of coffee in Italy.

Which choice gives an example that most clearly supports the statement made earlier in the sentence?

Which choice most effectively combines the underlined sentences?

- A) Instead, most regular patrons of a caffetteria drink their coffee standing, often shoulder-to-shoulder, at a counter or bar.
- B) Instead, most regular patrons of a caffetteria drink their coffee, often standing shoulder-to-shoulder, which they do at a counter or bar.

- D) Most regular patrons of a caffetteria drink their coffee shoulder-to-shoulder at a counter or bar, standing there instead.

8 Indeed, many Italian coffee enthusiasts agree that there is only one 9 correct way to make coffee: this involves filtering water through freshly ground coffee beans at specific temperatures and pressures, which produces the concentrated form of coffee known as espresso. This type of coffee is drunk in Italy in several

Which choice best introduces the paragraph?

- A) Coffee consumption does not necessarily have to take place in a caffetteria; espresso-based drinks can also be made in the home.
- B) In Italy, the fervor for the coffee-drinking experience extends beyond the drinking of coffee to the making of it and the timing of its consumption.
- C) There are as many different ways to make coffee in Italy as there are coffee drinkers, and there is little agreement about which way is best.
- D) Not all Italians share in this enthusiasm for coffee, of course.

An espresso mixed with frothed and steamed milk 10 is a cappuccino: for example, while an espresso with just a dollop of steamed milk on top is a caffè macchiato. There are also respected traditions about when these different coffee drinks should be consumed: while cappuccino is a popular morning drink, espresso, either plain or diluted with water, is usually the drink of choice for coffee drinkers in Italy in the afternoon and evening. 11

At this point, the writer is considering adding the following sentence.

These espresso-based coffee drinks have become increasingly popular in the United States over the past several decades.

Should the writer make this addition here?

- A) Yes, because it adds force to the writer's argument about the popularity of coffeehouses in Italy.
- B) Yes, because it elaborates on the statement in the previous sentence about different types of drinks.
- C) No, because it suggests that coffee drinking is not as popular in Italy as the writer claims it is.
- D) No, because it digresses from the main topic of how coffee is regarded in Italy.

Questions 12-22 are based on the following passage and supplementary material.

A Study in Arctic Migration

Each year, many species of shorebirds migrate from locations in the Southern Hemisphere to their breeding grounds in the 12 Arctic. A journey of thousands of kilometers that requires frequent stops to fuel up. The risk of death is significant, and the Arctic is an inhospitable region for most of the 13 year, yet the shorebirds never failing to make their annual pilgrimage.

Come spring, the Arctic becomes a suitable habitat, providing many benefits: an abundant supply of food, permanent daylight, ample nesting space, fewer pathogens, and fewer predators to invade the nests of these ground-dwelling birds. These benefits are found in all regions of the 14 Arctic regardless of latitude yet some shorebirds continue on to the high Arctic. If these birds are simply looking for open space and enough food to eat, then why not end their long journey in the low Arctic? Continuing on to the north requires more fuel and carries an even greater risk of 15 mortality if the birds continue on. The most likely reason certain shorebirds head to the high Arctic is to escape their predators.

[1] A four-year study by a team of Canadian scientists, headed by student Laura McKinnon of the Université du Québec, 16 provide evidence in support of this hypothesis. [2] The scientists created artificial nests that resembled a typical shorebird's nest. [3] Then each year, during the shorebirds' breeding season, forty of the nests were placed in each of seven locations that ranged in latitude from the low Arctic to the high Arctic. [4] Each nest had been baited with four 17 quail egg's, which are similar in size and shape to a shorebird's eggs. [5] The scientists returned to the nests many times over nine days to check how many eggs remained in the nests. [6] A nest was said to have survived if, at the end of the nine days, it contained at least one undisturbed quail egg.

- A) where it is now.

The figure shows the results for the nesting 19 sites, furthermore, at four of the seven locations, averaged over the four years of the study. The 20 number of predators invading the nests increased over time at each location. This result confirmed that predators were present at the researchers' chosen locations. The researchers found that the percent of 21 surviving nests was greater at locations having higher latitudes. For example, on day 9, approximately 55 percent of nests were found to have survived at the 82°N location compared to approximately 10 percent of nest survival at the 63°N location. This study provides the first known quantifiable evidence for the previously unanswered question of why shorebirds continue on to the high Arctic. 22 The shorebirds risk their own survival by flying farther. Their offspring have a better chance of survival because fewer predators invade the nests.

Which choice most effectively combines the underlined sentences?

- A) Although the shorebirds risk their own survival by flying farther, their offspring have a better chance of survival because fewer predators invade the nests.
- B) The shorebirds risk their own survival because they fly farther; in addition, their offspring have a better chance of survival because fewer predators invade the nests.
- C) Flying farther and risking their own survival is what the shorebirds do, and this gives their offspring a better chance of survival because fewer predators invade the nests.
- D) The shorebirds' offspring have a better chance of survival, fewer predators invade their nests, and they risk their own survival by flying farther.
